Milestone 1: Environment Preparation

In this stage you will be working with CVAT - you need to install CVAT locally to your laptop/desktop and we urge you to follow the docker setup instructions here

PS: You can also create an account on the cvat.ai site but we dont offer any guarantees that the project can be delivered in its entirety with a cvat instance that is not managed by you.

Submit a github repository with a branch titled ‘milestone-1’ with the readme file containing the CVAT installation instructions you followed and a screenshot of your computer of the login screen. Add as collaborator the TA.

vamshikrishnapeddagolla@Vamshis-MBP ~ % docker run hello-world
Hello from Docker!
This message shows that your installation appears to be working correctly.
To generate this message, Docker took the following steps:
1. The Docker client contacted the Docker daemon.
2. The Docker daemon pulled the "hello-world" image from the Docker Hub.
(arm64v8)
3. The Docker daemon created a new container from that image which runs the executable that produces the output you are currently reading.
4. The Docker daemon streamed that output to the Docker client, which sent it to your terminal.
To try something more ambitious, you can run an Ubuntu container with:
$ docker run -it ubuntu bash
Share images, automate workflows, and more with a free Docker ID:

Milestone-2 Data Acquisition

Go to the HD site and in the left panel select the home area (room) you have been assigned: bedroom Select 10 product categories (eg sinks, faucets) that HD sells in each room and that are shown on their promotional videoYou will need to scrape using beautiful soup or retrieve using the Google Custom Search API (better solution), 100 images of each of the selected product categories. Make sure you select products that are not included on the video, meaning if a specific sink is shown on the video, you srape / search different but similar sinks. Submit a Github branch titled 'data-acquisition' and a markdown file called data-acquisition.md containing the code that achieve the milestone and a pytest test file that can show that the code works.

Milestone-3 Annotation

Upload the images in your CVAT instance and annotate all object categories. This is a manual step and you will need to use the DEXTR cutter. Write a 2 page summary on how DEXTR works that can be understood by experts. Ensure that the annotations can be read and seen by the fiftyone tool Submit a Github branch titled 'annotation' containing the annotated dataset in MS COCO format and a markdown file called annotation.md containing the DEXTR description and the link with the 1000 annotated images (10 product categories x 100 images per category. You can collaborate with other teams on the annotation task to share the load.

CVAT is a PC vision instrument for intelligent video and picture comments. A considerable number of individuals and organizations use it universally. CVAT is open-source and free. The CVAT center group relocated a new repo - The dynamic advancement of the instrument to this new store. Our main objective is to assist engineers, businesses, and associations around the world in solving real problems by using an information-driven artificial intelligence approach. • One panel is an open-source vision “Artificial intelligence” stage that completely incorporates CVAT. With adaptable information handling and parallelized preparing pipelines. • DataIsKey offers explanation administrations for projects of any size using CVAT as their excellent information-naming tool. • The Human protocol uses CVAT as a method of incorporating comment administration. • For a brand that works in the style business, “Cogito Tech LLC”, a “Human-in-the-loop” Labor force Arrangements Supplier, utilized CVAT to comment on around 5,000 pictures (Pachtinger et al., 2021). • Fifty-one is an “open-source” model examination and dataset curation tool for PC vision that is closely coordinated with CVAT for comment and name refinement. It can be used to visualize, investigate, and further develop PC vision datasets and models. • Here CVAT online software platform has been used to do the annotation process by using the DEXTR cutter tool. This tool has been used in this platform in order to manually cut the images as required. • This software platform has various advantageous features such as it being an open-source platform to perform various captivity relate annotations. This platform can support various types of files. Such as the ability to perform various captivity-related annotations on an open-source platform. Different file types can be supported by this platform. • In this report, the DEXTR cutter has been used to cut the image as per the level creation. Here ten categories of bedroom images are used. Based on this level annotation process has been executed. • In order to cut the image as per the requirement this tool plays a vital role. Here contractors are used to creating the level. Based on the levels this tool has been used to cut the images. This tool is crucial in cutting the picture to the specifications. Contractors in this place build the level. This tool has been used to cut the images based on these levels. • All these images are imported into this online platform by drag and drop process after that project has been created. After that task of this project needs to create based on this part of the images (Rüdesheim et al., 2022). After that application has been formed, all of these photographs are imported using a drag-and-drop method onto this web platform. Following that, a task for this project must be created based on these photographs. • Here two type of view has been visible, one is bit show details and another one in source show details. In this task, ten levels have been created based on the ten categories. • The segmentation process has been executed in this software platform using the DEXTR cutter tool. This tool is support image based. PNG file to segment the images. • In this, it is easy to detect the object present in the images. Here bedroom images are used where various bedroom-related furniture images are presented. All this furniture is treated like object of the image. • Here DEXTR tool has been used based on a polygon line. Linear interpolation of the boundary has been used. After this manual development, all type of activity has been implemented based on the attributes. • All ten levels are assigned for any object that is present in these images. Levels are created based on the various shapes that are cut by using the DEXTR cutter toolbar.

Milestone-4 Semantic Segmentation

Use this template or an equivalent template if you are using Tensorflow to implement a semantic segmentation pipeline based on either MaskRCNN (project team number is odd number) or UNet (project team number is even) that will successfully segment the selected objects on the input room video.

You can use frameworks such as https://github.com/facebookresearch/detectron2 for this task.

Ensure you describe how you tuned and what values you ended up using for the network hyperparameters

Submit a Github branch titled 'segmentation' containing the segmentation code and a markdown file called segmentation.md containing the full description of the semantic segmentation network you used and the performance results you got.

ann_img[ 0 , 0 ] = 2 # this would set the label of pixel 0,0 as 2
